Sanborn County Ambulance Closes In on the Goal Line

Early September, Santel presented a $1,000 donation to Sanborn County Ambulance toward its campaign for a powered loading system. Sanborn County Ambulance already uses a powered cot, but the additional loading unit would further improve how patients are lifted into and secured inside the ambulance. It would also reduce physical strain on ambulance personnel and lessen the need for lift assistance from local fire departments.

Aaron Fink with Sanborn County Ambulance said the organization is now approximately $11,000 short of its goal. The campaign has been funded entirely through donations, something the department is extremely appreciative of. A new ambulance is expected to arrive this month, and the goal is to have the powered loading equipment ready to install as soon as funding is complete.

Sanborn County Ambulance provides emergency medical services throughout the county and also assists neighboring services and community events when needed.

Santel General Manager Ryan Thompson said supporting local emergency services is an important part of supporting the communities Santel serves. “Having capable, well-equipped emergency services nearby benefits everyone in the community,” Thompson said. “We are proud to help them move closer to their goal.” The connection is especially close to home for Santel, whose headquarters are located directly across the street from the ambulance station.
